HONORS ARE DIVIDED AT AMERICAN FORK

Special to The Tribune.

AMERICAN FORK, Nov. 5.—The election at American Fork was unusually quiet. It resulted in a division between the Democrats and the Republicans. The Republicans secured the mayor, two councilmen and half of the city officers. About 600 votes were cast.

The following is the ticket elected: James T. Gardner, Republican, mayor; J. M. Thornton, Republican, recorder, J. B. Farries, Republican, treasurer; George Cunningham, Democrat, justice of the peace; Peter Logsdon, Democrat, four-year councilman; George F. Shelley, Republican, L. Parker, Republican, and E. J. Clayson, Democrat, two-year councilmen. Mayor Gardner and Mr. Cunningham are the only two men on the ticket who succeed themselves. The city council is Republican.

CAUGHT IN PULLEY AND CRUSHED TO DEATH

Special to The Tribune.

LARAMIE. Wyo., Nov. 5.—William I.
Davis a 17-year-old boy, was caught in a revolving pulley at the Acme plaster mill this morning, his coat being so tightly drawn about his body that the chest was crushed. The boy's feet were crushed to a pulp against the side of the building, one foot being left in a broken board when the body was taken down. The father of Davis was last heard from at Elko Nev., where he was a railroad contractor. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death, but included a recommendation that the Acme company take steps to protect this pulley and shaft, as a similar fatality occurred at the same spot several months ago, an old man being killed.

SMOOTH REED HANDED A BIG, JUICY LEMON

Provo, Against Will of Apostle-Senator.

Special to The Tribune.

PROVO, Nov. 5.—Reed Smoot and his Republican ticket was handed a bis, juicy lemon today in the election as Mayor of C. F. Decker, a Democrat, with a vote of 1135, against 227 for J. H. Frisby, the Smoot Republican candidate. Mr. Decker was the more popular man of the two. Frisby, it is understood, was placed on the Republican ticket on a Smoot trade between the east and west side. The ticket was badly scratched throughout, which accounts for the election of Mr. Decker. The Democrats also secured two Councilmen, but the City Council is overwhelmingly Republican.

Special to The Tribune.

BINGHAM, Nov. 5.—Two fights, in one of which Deputy Sheriff J. L. Forbes was seriously, if not fatally injured, occurred today during the city election, which was hotly contested, but won by the Citizens' ticket. Several votes were thrown out and it is understood that, for this reason, the Socialists will contest the election.

The men chosen are:

Thomas Quillan, Citizen, Mayor; V. B. Jones, Citizen, J. Bouguard, Citizen, L. Ochristen. Special to The Tribune.

the City Council is overwhelmingly Republican.

The selection of Mr. Decker is considered a mild rebuke for the apostlescenator, as he was most aggressive in making the trade between the east and west sides to place Mr. Frisby on the Republican ticket. Mr. Smoot was also handed another lemon by the citizens of his own ward, who feturned H. F. Thomas, a Democrat, to the City Council

In Harper's magazine, Thornton Oakley writes entertainingly of the ways of life on the railreads of Spain.

"The doors of the third-class cars are narrow. I remember at one of the mountain towns how a fat man kept the train waiting with his efforts to get out. He was huge and round, with a red face full of wrinkles, and shining shaven head. A Maltese cross shone white upon his brown expanse of casseck. He got wedged tightly in the door and could move neither in nor out. His face grew apoplectic. Perspiration streamed down his forchead. His hat rolled beneath the train. He dropped his bug upon the platform, and as it fell it burst open. Glass crashed; eigars were scattered all about. As the bell sounded he began to shout. The guard came running. The station idlers crowded up. They tagged at him, pulling at his hands, his robe, his fat striped legs. Over his shoulder within the car you could see men pushing from behind. Suddenly he came through with a rush, his casseck torn and flying, his little eyes wide with fright.

Carl Howe, traffic manager of the merchants' despatch of the New York Central lines, spent a day in Salt Lake a short time ago, and was shown about the city by his friend, K. O. Keyes, commercial agent of the New York Central. Mr. Howe, in company with Mr. Zimmermah, assistant general freight agent of the Michigan Central railroad, was on his return from an extended trip through the West, extending on the coast from Seattle to Los Angeles.

While here, Mr. Howe talked interestingly of the West, a portion of the country of which he had formed a most favorable opinion. When here he regretted that his visit in the West was cut short by a wire which he received in San Francisco, from headquarters, summoning him to return East without defay, for what purpose he did not know her could he form any idea.

Upon his return to New York city, the object of the summons was made known to him in an order listied by the board of managing directors appointing him manager of the New York Central system, which includes fourteen different railroad companies and eleven fast freight lines, with offices in Buffalo, N. Y

Mr. Howe is a companatively young man, and this splendid recognition of his executive ability and superior business qualifications is most gratifying to his many friends in Salt Lake and elsewhere throughout the country.
